

New Developments in Regulatory Benefit-Cost Analysis

A Symposium hosted by:
The Society for Benefit-Cost Analysis
The George Washington University Regulatory Studies Center &
The Administrative Conference of the United States

When

Friday, September 29th
1:00pm – 5:30pm
Reception to follow

Where

The George Washington University
School of Law
Lerner Hall 201

Agenda

1:00 pm Introduction to regulatory analysis across administrations

- Susan Dudley (OIRA administrator 2007-2009, GW Regulatory Studies Center)
- Sally Katzen (OIRA administrator 1993-1998, NYU School of Law)

1:45 pm Tools for evaluating regulatory and deregulatory impacts

- Joseph Aldy, Harvard University
- Jennifer Baxter, Industrial Economics
- Reeve Bull, Administration Conference of the United States
- Cary Coglianese, University of Pennsylvania School of Law
- Michael Livermore, University of Virginia School of Law
- Lisa Robinson, Harvard University (Center for Risk Analysis and Center for Health Decision Science)
- Don Kenkel, moderator, Society for Benefit-Cost Analysis

3:30 pm Break

3:45 pm Experience using regulatory analysis to implement new directives

- Linda Abbott, U.S. Department of Agriculture
- Deborah Aiken, U.S. Department of Transportation
- Amber Jessup, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
- Al McGartland, Environmental Protection Agency
- Clark Nardinelli, Food and Drug Administration
- Rose Odom, former Department of Homeland Security and U.S. Coast Guard
- Nan Shellabarger Federal Aviation Administration
- Matt Wiener, moderator, Administrative Conference of the United States

5:30 Reception hosted by SBCA and GW RSC (Kelly Lounge)